Moody's farm donated land,
to build a four room school.
Bringing guns for hunting was,
just not against the rules.

The old schoolhouse was rolled on logs,
across the street by hand.
It became our library,
where it now stands.

Headed down to Ducktrap bridge,
to learn what happened there.
It was so busy at one time,
a major thoroughfare.

David Kinney showed us how,
to find houses on a map.
Lot sizes and footprints too,
owners present and past.

Monroe Place, Dearborn Place, and the Youngtown Inn,
Near the coast was breezy, inland had less wind.

Bayshore church, Center church, Scott Knights store was there,
The new general store now, no longer needs repair.

DeCrow house, McKenney house, homesteads we did see,
Many Lincolnvile settlers, started their fam'ly tree.

Rosie rode our bus around,
to show us Lincolnvile.
We learned about, many things,
including lumber mills

There were many inland trails,
that marching soldiers made.
People settled on the land,
and that is where they stayed.
And that is where they stayed.
